

If you meet the following requirements, you may qualify to receive a portion of all the pension payments back from the Japanese Government.

- You must not be a Japanese citizen (not sure about permanent residency)
- You must have been enrolled in and have been making pension payments for more than 6 months
- Must NOT have an address in Japan (eg. you normally apply for the rebate from overseas, after returning home)
- Must have not already received any pension payments (including disability allowance)

Check out this link that describes it in more detail:

<http://www.stippy.com/japan-life/refund-get-back-your-national-pension-payments-when-you-leave-japan-lump-sum-withdrawal/>

Here is the actual notice from the Japanese government along with the application form!

<http://www.sia.go.jp/e/pdf/english.pdf>

{comment}

